

Dedication of the Lateran Basilica in Rome

Dear Parishioners,

Well the big day is almost here and I still feel that we, at least myself, are not ready but I think with all the tremendous support and the tireless efforts of our volunteers we will have a great Auction. I would like to acknowledge to ladies who worked really hard preparing our silent auction. They have carefully sorted and tagged the items as well as haul the items out of the ground floor to the social hall amidst the rain and cold weather sometimes even getting soaked...to Judy Zaccaria and Gina Agaloos, thank you so much! I also would like to recognize and acknowledge all the parishioners who have stepped up to the plate of supporting and ensuring that we will have a good auction this year, may God bless you all for your generosity.

Well this Sunday we will be having part one of our auction which is the silent/family auction beginning after the 10:30 liturgy. I hope you can join me after Mass and peruse at some of the items we have up for bidding. Who knows what you might find in the Social Hall. Also new this year is our Santa's workshop where kids can create and take or buy readymade gifts ranging from $1-$10. Families will also have an opportunity to have their picture taken with Santa and it will be ready in time for the holidays. So please come and join me in this fun event as we support our beloved Parish!
