

Pre-K December News

Welcome to December!

This first part of our school year has flown by and we will soon be zipping into 2018.

But first we will celebrate all the gifts December brings.

Language Arts: We will continue to work on writing our names using upper and lower case letters. The students typically write their name three times during the school day. I am happy with the continued improvement I am seeing in their skill in pencil holding and name writing.

Pre-Reading will continue with letter sounds and the introduction of site words (the, is, at).

Math: Math is always fun when done as games and using manipulatives such as Christmas Candy. We will be securing number recognition from 1-10 this month.

Art: In art we will be looking for the shapes that create the picture. In our November turkey pictures the students used circles and lines to create their masterpiece. For December, we will be looking for triangles, squares and rectangles (look for these shapes in their angel pictures).

Show & Tell: We will continue with our non-perishable food item for Show & Tell. We have had some good class discussions about who will be receiving their gift and maybe why they need it. Our box is overflowing with your kin generosity. Thank You.

Calendar Reminders:

December 8th – Santa will be leaving his workshop to pay us a visit. It is up to you if you want to prepare your child for this or keep it as a surprise.

December 15th - We will be baking a cake for baby Jesus' birthday. Marti Bolcer (church member) will be reading our class the Christmas story using figurines for the children to participate with.

January 3rd – First day back to school for Pre-K.

Wishing you peace and joy this Christmas,

Anne Dahlin
